That's excellent Manuel!. Isn't this an Enya song?

Manuel, I must have missed this one somehow. Yes, I like these slow tunes that bring out the beauty of the instruments. They are just as hard, or harder to play than the fast tunes, with more emphasis on tone and taste! That is a nice arrangement!!

Thanks,

Laurence

Excellent! It's nice hearing a banjo playing smooth and silky. Kuddos on the violin also. It really adds a nice dimension to the song. Ted

Such a beautiful melody. Very nice the way the banjo introduces the tune and then the violin comes in right at the perfect time. Enya did some interesting music, and I don't listen to much pop music myself. This tune required me posting the lyrics, they're fitting:

Who can say where the road goes,
Where the day flows, only time?
And who can say if your love grows,
As your hearth chose, only time?

Who can say why your heart sighs,
As your live flies, only time?
And who can say why your heart cries
when your love lies, only time?

Who can say when the roads meet,
That love might be ,in your heart?
and who can say when the day sleeps,
and the night keeps all your heart?
Night keeps all your heart.....

Who can say if your love groves,

As your heart chose, only time?
And who can say where the road goes
Where the day flows, only time?

Who knows? Only time
Who knows? Only time
